

yes

cannabis is legal.

know

the rules.

In order to have a safe cannabis experience, it's important to know the rules and tips regarding safe cannabis consumption, how to buy it, where to consume it, how much to consume, and what is still restricted by law.

* It is illegal to consume cannabis in public spaces like festivals, expos, and even at a licensed dispensary. Consume in an appropriate setting, respecting the rights of others.

* Do not consume cannabis around children and ALWAYS store products safely away from children and pets; inside a locked cabinet or other locked storage space is best.

* Never drive under the influence of cannabis. Driving under the influence of cannabis is illegal and puts the public at risk.

* Only purchase cannabis from a CCD-licensed dispensary. Cannabis may not be purchased at special events such as festivals, expos, or competitions.

* Start low and go slow—cannabis affects everyone differently; know your tolerance to avoid getting overly intoxicated.

* Do not mix cannabis with alcohol or other medications.

* Cannabis bought in New Mexico should stay in New Mexico. It is federally illegal to travel across state lines with cannabis.

Visit YesAndKnowsNM.com for additional guidelines and more information.

As part of the New Mexico Regulation & Licensing Department, the Cannabis Control Division strives to protect public health and safety through responsible cannabis possession and sales. We aspire to provide quality customer service, serve as a resource for local governments and the public, and thoroughly investigate allegations of misconduct and swiftly act on incidences found to be out of compliance with state laws and division rules.